

Who Said That?

Match the quotations below with their authors. They are all from well-known writers, thinkers, scientists, philosophers, etc.

1. The only reason for time is so that everything doesn't happen at once.
2. April is the cruelest month.
3. America, I'm putting my queer shoulder to the wheel.
4. Nonviolence is fine as long as it works.
5. A woman is handicapped by her sex, and handicaps society, either by slavishly copying the pattern of man's advance in the professions, or by refusing to compete with man at all.
6. Dreams are often most profound when they seem the most crazy.
7. If you're in trouble, or hurt or need—go to the poor people. They're the only ones that'll help—the only ones.
8. Old-fashioned ways which no longer apply to changed conditions are a snare in which the feet of women have always become readily entangled.
9. Destroying rainforest for economic gain is like burning a Renaissance painting to cook a meal.
10. What really knocks me out is a book that, when you're all done reading it, you wish the author that wrote it was a terrific friend of yours and you could call him up on the phone whenever you felt like it.
